Candida “Candi” P. Wolff

Global Head, Government Affairs
Citi

September 18, 2024, 8:00 a.m. - 9:00 a.m.
at Citi, Prime Tower, 201 Hardstrasse, 8010 Zurich

Candida “Candi” P. Wolff is the Global Head of Citi’s Government Affairs. She is responsible for the company’s government affairs globally, including U.S. Federal, U.S. State, and international government relations. She also serves as the Citi Mid-Atlantic U.S. Market Leader where she focuses on clients in the Mid-Atlantic market, particularly institutional and Wealth clients.

Prior to joining Citi in May 2011, Ms. Wolff was a partner in the Legislative and Policy Practice at the law firm of Hogan Lovells where she represented clients in legislative matters before the Congress and the Administration. Her private-sector experience also includes time as a partner at Washington Council Ernst & Young, a Washington, D.C.-based consulting firm, and as an Associate in the Public Policy and Law section of Akin, Gump, Strauss, Hauer & Feld, a Washington, D.C.-based law firm.

Additionally, Ms. Wolff has more than 25 years of government relations experience in key public and private sector positions. Most notably, from January 2005 to December 2007, she served in the White House as the Assistant to the President for Legislative Affairs – the first female to have ever held this position. As President George W. Bush’s principal liaison to Congress, Ms. Wolff had the primary responsibility for formulating and advocating the President’s agenda in Congress.

Ms. Wolff also served as head of legislative affairs for Vice President Cheney and worked for eight years in the U.S. Senate in senior staff positions in the Republican Leadership and as tax counsel to former Senator Malcolm Wallop of Wyoming.

Mrs. Wolff will share insights and discuss the potential impact the US election could have on Europe and beyond.
